SERIES CONCEPT

Occupational Therapists plan, organize and implement an occupational therapy program for individuals in a mental health, mental retardation, or rehabilitation setting; utilize purposeful activity in areas such as activities of daily living, pre-vocational and vocational training, and participation in sensorimotor, educational, recreational, and social activities to help patients/clients regain physical or mental functioning or adjust to disabilities; select constructive activities suited to the individual's physical and mental capacity, and interest in order to optimize the patient's/client's level of independence.

Develop occupational therapy program protocols, goals and objectives to meet the needs of the population served; participate in committees and activities of the facility in the development of service delivery needs assessments and evaluations, and policies and procedures; and participate in accrediting and quality review programs.

Evaluate patients/clients by reviewing medical, psychiatric, social, and work histories; conduct subjective interviews and observe patient/client physical and emotional status; assess patient/client abilities and limitations through the use of testing devices; score and interpret tests by selecting appropriate norms and integrating results with evaluative data to formulate a diagnosis and develop a treatment plan.

Prepare written treatment plans and specifications to define specific goals and modalities to be used; visit patient's/client's home, job site or physical location to assist in determining treatment strategies and services.

Implement the treatment plan by providing skill training, structured therapeutic activities, counseling, and motivation as needed by patients/clients; periodically evaluate patient/client progress and modify treatment as appropriate, based on the patient's/client's progress and current level of functioning.

Recommend, procure, adapt and/or fabricate assistive devices as needed to improve the patient's/client's functional level.

Maintain documentation for program development, monitoring and evaluation, and of patient/client care and progress in compliance with program accreditation, and State and federal licensure requirements; prepare documentation required for budget development and monitoring, and billing purposes.

Participate in interdisciplinary treatment team meetings to obtain and provide information concerning patients/clients treatment and progress, and coordinate treatment efforts with other team members; confer with community based programs and activities to assist in patient's/client's participation; teach families and others as needed to implement habilitation programs.

Supervise Certified Occupational Therapy Assistants, student affiliates and other support staff as assigned; assign and review work, and provide instruction in specific treatment modalities and procedures to be implemented or monitored; maintain inventory and the therapy environment, ensuring compliance with State and federal health and safety regulations; may provide staff training in appropriate techniques and procedures used to assist patients/clients with activities of daily living.

Perform related duties as assigned.
